

Air1 has been a great radio station in Oregon and I hope that it will be around for a long time. It is a positive alternative to the other music stations available. The other station or two that is a positive alternative in Portland are not music I would like to listen to at work or in the car. Air1 is that kind of music. And makes such a difference in my life to have something clean and uplifting to listen to. If Air1 was to get displaced by LPFM, we would lose a great radio station. In the best interest of the public, Air1 needs to stay on the air. With the stress and grief of society, we need something that optimistic and clean. Thank you for listening to my comment.
